J. T. HINTON FOR MAYOR.

In one of the most exciting primary elections ever held in the city, Hon. John T. Hinton was nominated as the standard bearer of the Democratic party by a majority of fifty votes over Mayor James M. O'Brien who was a candidate to succeed himself.

The administration of Mayor O'Brien was, however, endorsed as four of the seven members of the old council were re-elected by safe majorities. The new Mayor will thus be handicapped as the Council appoints all city officials other than those elected by the people.

The appointive officers are city collector, members of police and fire departments, city assessor, and superintendent of the street cleaning department.

The defeat of Mayor O'Brien removes from public life the best Mayor the city ever had.

E. B. January, candidate for Police Judge, wins over Judge C. D. Webb by 90 votes.

J. C. Elgin, candidate for Chief of Police, defeated George M. Hill, the present incumbent by a majority of 54 votes.

Hon. John T. Hinton, the nominee for Mayor, is one of the best known politicians in the State. He has served the city as Mayor for three different terms, was a member of the city council for years and represented the county for three terms as representative in the state legislature.

Four of the old council were elected, viz: T. F. Brannon, J. W. Taylor, J. B. Dempsey, L. Wollstein.

The councilmen elected are:

First Ward—J. S. Wilson, Robt. Link and T. F. Brannon.

Second Ward—J. B. Dempsey, J. W. Taylor and L. Wollstein.

Third Ward—Harry Baldwin.

The vote was as follows:

Deep Waterways Convention.

The Lakes-to-the-Gulf Deep Waterways Convention will be held in New Orleans on October 30 and 31. President Taft is to attend and the Governors of many states have signified their intention of being present at the gathering. The cities and towns of the Ohio Valley should be well represented at New Orleans and it is gratifying to note that several of them have already taken steps toward adequate representation.

The business interests of the Ohio Valley feel a deep concern in the project for a nine foot stage for the Ohio river. All-the-year-round steamboats would give great impetus to river commerce and would put new life into many industries and many towns that are now languishing, or making but indifferent headway, because of the uncertainties of navigation. All classes would be benefited by effective river improvement, more especially the merchants, manufacturers and farmers. An infinite variety of business enterprises, occupations and industries are materially concerned in river shipping.

An all-the-year stage of water in the Ohio, along with dependable packet lines, which surely would follow in the wake of improvement, would bring lower freight rates for merchants and enlarged trade opportunities for wholesale dealers, jobbers and manufacturers. Inevitably a river commerce that is healthy and active and continuous will insure greater prosperity to the centers of population and increased land values to the rural territory along the Ohio.

The rivers are here, under suitable conditions, to bear their share of the burdens of commercial transportation. Their permanent and systematic improvement will be expensive, but a country that does not hesitate to put untold millions into the Panama Canal should not be parsimonious about spending a few more millions to put the big rivers in shape to handle an appropriate portion of the Nation's growing trade. Once the Panama Canal is completed the vital need of deeper waterways to the gulf will become apparent.

President Taft is already on record as favoring a comprehensive scheme of improvement. In his address at New Orleans, after his long trip down the Mississippi, it is probable that he will say something that will emphasize his previous remarks on the subject and that will lend momentum to a movement already making swift progress in popular favor. When Presidents and Governors and Congressmen are led to see the utility and practicability of the plan there is hope for those who have labored so long and tirelessly in its behalf.

From present indications the convention at New Orleans will be the largest and most representative assembly, in a national sense, that has ever come together in advocacy of river improvement. It is believed that fully two thirds of the governors of the states will be in attendance, coming from every section of the Union. It goes without saying that the Ohio Valley should be conspicuously in evidence at such a meeting.

The American Arctic Explorers.

As the two rival Arctic explorers near the American shores, interest is manifest as to the outcome of the heated controversies into which the two daring men have been plunged since the announcement that both had discovered the North Pole. Since he learned that Dr. Cook had laid claim to the honor of being the first man to reach the pole, Commander Peary has vigorously assailed the character and veracity of Dr. Cook, denouncing him before the civilized world as an impostor and a faker of the rankiest sort.

On the other hand, Dr. Cook, although beset by requests from newspapers and appealed to by his supporters to answer the charges, has remained silent on the subject, preferring to leave the matter to the better judgment of the most scientific men of the world than to engage in a bitter controversy with his American brother.

Commander Peary acted very unwisely in challenging the sincerity of the Brooklyn explorer. His charges were without warrant and his denunciations were but the result of a jealous desire to deprive the daring Brooklynite of the glory he had achieved by planting the American flag in that part of the world that Commander Peary had spent so many years of his life in vain efforts to reach.

Dr. Cook has never expressed himself as being doubtful of Peary's success. When the first announcement was made he won the admiration of the civilized world by the simple statement, "If Peary says he has been to the pole I believe him." He did not doubt the truth of the statement of his rival for the honors, and the sympathies of the world went out to him when his character was assailed.

The journeys of the two American explorers will be reviewed, no doubt, within the next few weeks, and the observations and data will be discussed before the most scientific men of the world. If they can prove that they have reached the pole, then there will be glory and honor enough for both. If Peary can prove that Cook has never been to the pole then he alone should be entitled to the credit. On the contrary if the statement of a Roman astronomer bears any truth it is probable that Commander Peary was the one who failed to reach the goal instead of Cook. Peary may be able to establish his claims, and he may succeed in depriving Cook of his share of the glory, but the sympathies of the world are with the latter, and will be until it is proven conclusively that he has no right to the honors to be derived from such an achievement.

Out in Carroll county, Ill., as Paris women do babies, they raise watermelons on the bottle. The process is simple, consisting of cutting a runner or branch vine immediately back of the developing melon and inserting the cut end of the vine into a bottle of water sweetened with sugar. The water is quickly absorbed resulting in increased size of melon, rapid growth and greater sweetness. One melon raised this season, after this treatment, weighed eighty pounds.

Do you feel weak, tired, despondent, have frequent headaches, coated tongue, bitter or bad taste in morning, "heart-burn," belching of gas, acid risings in throat after eating, stomach gnaw or burn, foul breath, dizzy spells, poor or variable appetite, nausea at times and kindred symptoms?

doctors could not cure, had at last laid me up. Then Bucklen's Arnica Salve Cured it sound and well. Infallible for Skin Eruptions, Eczema, Salt Rheum, Boils, Fever Sores, Burns, Scalds, Cuts and Piles. 25c at Oberdorfer's.

In his "Mirror of Stones" Camillus Leonardus calls jet "black amber" and states that it possesses the peculiar property of attracting to it when rubbed light substances of all kinds. He also tells us that the thin smoke produced by this friction of rubbing was used by the ancient Britains for driving away devils and dissolving spells.

"Jet," says Dr. Young, "appears to be wood in a high state of bituminization." And certainly jet often appears with traces of ligneous structure. At the same time there are specimens of bones which seemingly have been gradually impregnated with and at last wholly replaced by this substance. Among the jet rock there is found a liquid hydrocarbon somewhat resembling petroleum oil, which occurs in the cavities of ammonites, etc., and is also sometimes found in nodules, the presence of which is generally supposed to point to a rich vein of jet.

From these and other observations it would appear that jet existed as a liquid substance and that this substance gradually permeated between the laminations of the shales, etc., covering over or in some cases entirely replacing any woody matter which it met with.—New York Post.

Snuff Spoons.

All the world is familiar with snuff-boxes, but snuff spoons are pretty little refinements of which this generation has hardly heard. Very probably they came into use about two years after Sir George Rooke's expedition to Vigo bay in 1702, when he captured half a ton of tobacco and snuff from the Spanish galleons, and snuff thus became a common article in England.

One of the characters in a comedy published at Oxford in 1704, entitled "An Act at Oxford," by Thomas Baker, says, "But I carry sweet snuff for the ladies," to which Arabella replies: "A spoon too. That's very gallant, for to see some people run their fat fingers into a box is as nauseous as eating without a fork."

In the forties and fifties of the last century snuff spoons were still in use on the Scottish border. They were of bone and of a size to go into the snuff-box. People fed their noses, it was said, as naturally as they carried soap to their mouths. As late as 1877 a farmer at Norham-on-Tweed was seen using one.—London Saturday Review.

A Tramp of Resource.

Much experience of thirsty tramps had caused the author of "An English Holiday," J. J. Hissey, to foreknow almost exactly what they would say to him. One day, when sending his motorcar slowly along a shady English road, he met one of this guild, who accosted him with the preliminary touch of his cap. Mr. Hissey anticipated him by exclaiming:

"I be mortal thirsty! Have you, good sir, the price of a glass of ale about you? I've driven nearly fifty miles today, and since the morning not a bite of food has passed my lips."

The look of astonishment that tramp gave me was a delight to observe. But this tramp was a man of ready resource, and, seeing I was a hopeless case, he rose to the occasion and promptly exclaimed, with what dignity he could command and with a comically serious expression:

"If there were a policeman in sight I would give you in charge for begging, that I would!"

Between Two Fires.

She was desperately gone on them both, and she couldn't think which one to choose. It was rather perplexing, no doubt, for one she was bound to refuse.

She gazed at them both in despair, quite puzzled to know what to do. As soon as she thought about one she cared for the other one too.

They still remained under her gaze, little recking the trouble they brought. It really was hard to decide. They were both so delightful, she thought.

She couldn't say which one she'd have; her efforts fell hopelessly flat. It's really exceedingly hard selecting a new autumn hat.

He Told Her.

Housekeeper—You promised that if I'd give you a good meal and a suit of old clothes you'd tell me how to keep the premises free from tramps.

Tramp—Yes, mum, an' I'm a man of me word, mum, an' I'll keep me promise, although that meal wasn't no great shakes an' this suit of clothes ain't much of a fit. But I'll tell ye.

"Well, what course am I to pursue?" "Never give 'em anything, mum. Good day, mum."

Good and Simple.

Let it not be in any man's power to say truly of thee that thou art not simple or that thou art not good, but let him be a liar whoever shall think anything of this kind about thee, and this is altogether in thy power, for who is he that shall hinder thee from being good and simple?—Marcus Antonius.

How He Raised It.

"How on earth did you ever cultivate such a beautiful black eye?" asked Brown's friend.

"Oh," replied Brown, who had unintentionally been illustrating the fall of man on roller skates, "I raised it from a slip!"—Everybody's Magazine.

Shows No Improvement.

"I don't see that her college education has improved her much."

"No?"

"No. She helps her mother with the housework just as if she hadn't been educated."—Detroit Free Press.

An Apt Simile.

Some men have a career like a golf ball. They are helped out of one hole only to get into another.—Lippincott's.

Laxative for Women Free

There is a great difference in the purposes to which a laxative should be put. Tablets and pills, salts, etc., are usually violent purgatives or cathartics, and altogether too powerful for the average person.

A woman at all times needs only a mild laxative—in fact, none other is needed by anyone, weak or strong though they may be, for the object is simply to move the bowels, and if a gentle laxative will do it, what is the use of a violent one?

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin has earned a well-deserved vogue among women and children and old folks—people who must necessarily be careful of what they take. It is a liquid laxative tonic and admittedly the greatest stomach, liver and bowel remedy before the American people. The price is only 50 cents or $1 a bottle, as it comes in both sizes, and all druggists sell it. Its pleasant taste and gentle action make it an ideal remedy for women in constipation, torpid liver, sour stomach, sick headache, heartburn and such like digestive complaints. Its use for a short time will remove the trouble entirely so that future medication will be unnecessary. Its tonic properties build up the stomach and intestinal muscles so that they act naturally again. That this is so is the experience of many heads of families, like Mrs. Brannan, of Alvarado, Va., Mrs. K. L. Stout, of Louisville, Ky., and numerous others; in fact, way out in Williams, Cal., as Mrs. J. E. Blackmore, of that place, writes, the whole town seems to be using it.

If the remedy is new to you and you want to make a trial of it before buying, send your name to the doctor's address as below and a free test bottle will be sent you. Then, if results are satisfactory you can buy it of your druggist.

If there is anything about your ailment that you don't understand, or if you want any medical advice, write to the doctor, and he will answer you fully. There is no charge for this service. The address is: Dr. J. C. Caldwell, 1111 Broadway, New York City.

Kentucky M. E. Conference in Session.

The second days proceedings of the Kentucky Conference of the Methodist Episcopal church South, was largely attended, many new ministers and lay delegates arriving since Wednesday. Bishop Hoss called the conference to order promptly at 9 o'clock a. m., and after the invocation delivered an address on "Christian Ethics."

Preceding the Bishop's address devotional exercises were held, led by Rev. John R. Peebles, of Winchester. Secretary Clarke read the minutes of Wednesday's meeting which were approved. Bishop Hoss then took up the reports of preachers from the Lexington and Danville Districts, the passing of characters and reading of reports consumed the morning hour.

At the afternoon session addresses were delivered by Dr. H. M. DuBose, of Nashville, Tenn. on Epworth League work, and by Rev. Mr. Buckinham, of the Christian church in the interest of the anti-saloon league.

Prof. C. B. Duncan, of the correspondent school of Vanderbilt University, delivered an interesting address before the conference on the work of his department and its relation and aid of ministers.

Prof. Duncan was followed by Dr. John R. Nelson, of Nashville, on Home Missionary work. Dr. Nelson explained at length the importance of activity all along the line in missionary work and the importance of concentrated effort.

At 3 o'clock p. m. a mass meeting of ministers and Epworth Leaguers was held for the purpose of forming the Kentucky Conference of the Epworth League. Mr. H. G. Price, of Nashville, Tenn., a distinguished layman in the work of the Epworth League, addressed the meeting. At the conclusion of the mass meeting the conference resolved itself into a study of the Bible, which was led by Dr. Gross Alexander, of Nashville, Tenn.

CONFERENCE NOTES.

Rev. Dr. E. G. Mann, of Lexington, Rev. J. L. Clarke, presiding Elder of the Covington district, Rev. J. P. Strother, of Danville, and Rev. L. Robinson former pastors of the Paris church, are attending the conference. Dr. Mann is guest of his niece, Mrs. Frank Bryan, while Rev. Strother is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Clarke.

Rev. Alec Redd, of Renaker, former pastor of the Paris church 1886-9, and later Presiding Elder of the Lexington district is attending the Conference and is with Mr. and Mrs. Alec Baird.

Rev. William Britt, of Bloomfield, Ky., who was pastor of the Millersburg church 1894-8, is attending the conference.

Rev. R. B. Baird, pastor of the Methodist church at Mackville, Washington county, is the largest preacher in attendance. Rev. Mr. Baird stands 6 feet 2 inches tall and in avoirdupois kicks the beam at 328 pounds.

Rev. J. E. Moss, who succeeded the Rev. Mr. Baird at Woodlawn, happens to be the smallest minister attending the conference, weighing only 115 pounds.

Dr. John R. Deering, one of the presiding elders of the conference, is the oldest preacher in service, having been admitted to conference in 1863.

Two of the most attractive and pleasing young ministers attending the conference are two brothers, Rev. S. H. Arnold, of Wilmore, and Rev. E. K. Arnold, of Moorefield. They are nephews of Presiding Elder W. E. Arnold, of the Maysville district.

Pastor W. R. Johnson, of the Owen-ton congregation, is accompanied by his son, Mr. Andrew Johnson, who is possessed of a fine voice and leads the song service. Young Mr. Johnson is studying for the ministry.

The preachers in attendance number more than one hundred and are as fine a body of men as one would wish to see.

Bishop Moss delivered the invocation upon the convening of conference. He asked for the richest blessing of Heaven upon the President of the United States, the Governor of Kentucky, and all in authority everywhere.

Mr. W. R. Peters, of Bath county is attending the conference. Mr. Peters was a Confederate soldier, belonging to Company F. Ninth Kentucky Cavalry, commanded by the late Col. W. C. P. Breckinridge.

Rev. H. C. Wright, who has completed the conference term of four years as pastor at Pleasureville, is in attendance upon the session and will be among those sent to some new charge.

Rev. George Froh, of La Grange, is one of the interesting ministers of the Conference. Rev. Mr. Froh has a circuit of four churches. He was a member of the Sixth Kentucky Infantry, U. S. A., and participated in every engagement from Shiloh to Atlanta.

Condemn Prohibition.

At Indianapolis Monday the German Roman Catholic Central Verein adopted without debate a resolution condemning prohibition as a cure for the liquor evil. It was one of a score or more resolutions of a religious and social nature on which the organization took action, and was one of the few which escaped a lively debate over some of the provisions. The resolution against prohibition is in line with former action of the Central Verein, and while denouncing enforced abstinence from liquor, recommends temperance.

The Judge's Little Joke.

The error of a clerk involved in a decidedly confusing situation the German gentleman referred to in a story in the New York Times.

On a jury day in the First district court a stolid looking German presented to the justice a certificate from the commissioner of jurors. After a rapid glance at the document the justice ordered the man to raise his right hand and administered the oath.

"Your name is Herman Kaufman?"

"Yes, your honor."

"This paper," continued the court, "requests me to excuse Herman Kaufman from jury duty on the ground that he is dead. Now, remember that you have sworn to tell the truth and think well before you answer. Are you dead?"

"No-o, your honor," was the bewildered reply: "I don't think I am."

"You claim that you are alive?"

"Y-e-s, your honor."

"That will do. Now take this paper back to the commissioner of jurors."

The man did so. When the commissioner examined the certificate it bore the following indorsement in the justice's handwriting:

"The deceased, appearing before me in open court, insists under oath that he is not dead. Please investigate and if his testimony be false have him indicted for perjury."

A Wedding Hint.

The tall girl smiled in some embarrassment.

"Haven't you any secondhand shoes?" she said to the shoe clerk.

"But, miss," he remonstrated.

"No, no; you misunderstand," said she. "I don't mean to wear. I just mean old shoes, too worn for use, that customers have left with you. You see, there's a wedding up at our house tomorrow, and we want something to throw at the bride and bridegroom."

"I see," said the clerk. He rummaged in a black hole and drew forth an armful of dilapidated footwear. The girl selected some three, two and ones.

"These will do. Thanks ever so much," she said, and so departed. "Big footed people are always working that on us," said the clerk afterward. "That girl wears eights. She couldn't very well throw such mudscoots at the bride, so she chose some little and dainty shoes here—ones and twos. Oh, yes, it's an old trick with the big footed."—Los Angeles Times.

Saracen's Head Tavern.

The Saracen's Head, Snow Hill, now closed, reached back to a respectable antiquity. In "Dick Tarlton's Jest" it is referred to as "the Saracen's Head without Newgate," and Stow calls it "a fair and large inn for receipt of travelers," which "bath to sign the Saracen's Head." Its pre-eminent interest, however, is naturally Dickensian, and the novelist has given a vivid description of the old inn as it was when Nicholas Nickleby and his uncle interviewed there the master of Dotheboys Hall. There are various accounts of the origin of the sign of the Saracen's Head. One is that it was set up as a compliment to the mother of Thomas a Becket, who was the daughter of a Saracen. In Selden's "Table Talk" we read, "When our countrymen came home from fighting with the Saracens * * * they pictured them with huge, big, terrible faces, as you still see the sign of the Saracen's Head is."—London Chronicle.

From the Kitchen.

Has it ever struck one what a number of terms belonging to cuisine are applied to man under different circumstances? Sometimes he is "basted," he "boils with rage," is "baked" with heat and "burns" with love or jealousy. He is often "cut up," "devoured" with a flame and "done brown." We "dress" his jacket for him. Sometimes he is "eaten up" with care, and occasionally he is "fried." We "cook" his "goose" for him, and often he makes a "goose" of himself. We make a "hash" of him, and sometimes he makes a hash of something else. He gets into "hot water" and sometimes into a "mess," is made into "mince meat" and is often in a "pickle." We are often asked to "toast" him, and he is frequently put into a "stew" or is in a "stew," no one knows why. A "soft" is "half baked," and one severely handled is well "peppered." A cheeky young imp is a "sauce box," and a rich father is made to "fork" out.—Dundee Advertiser.

He Knew His Business.

Kind Hearted Maiden (fishing for a stray penny in her purse)—I suppose you poor blind people feel your misfortunes keenly?

Blind Mendicant—Yes, indeed. The Lord only knows how I miss the pleasure of being able to look into the beautiful faces of the handsome and lovely ladies who are kind enough to donate—

Kind Hearted Maiden (fishing out a shilling)—Here, poor fellow, take this. I'm sure you are deserving.—London Scraps.

Perhaps.

"Now, look here, Algernon," said a parent to his son sternly, "when I was your age I was at the head of my class."

"Ah," responded the lad, "perhaps teachers were easier to fool than than they are now?"

Severe.

"I wish I had a fortune, I'd never paint another picture!" declared an artist to a brother of the brush.

"Well, there are lots of people who would give you one on that condition!"

The Similarity.

Why are some policemen like rain-bows? Because they appear after the storm is over.

Suit for Divorce.

J. C. B. Gillespie, a prominent farmer, of the eastern portion of the county, through his attorneys, Talbot & Whitley, led suit in the Bourbon Circuit Court for divorce from his wife, Bettie Alexander Gillespie.

The petition recites that they were married in Nicholas county June 25, 1908, and that the defendant abandoned the plaintiff September of the same year, has left the State and is now residing at or near Davenport, Oklahoma.

Anti-Tuberculosis Conference.

Two delegates have been apportioned to this city as its representation at the Anti-Tuberculosis Conference, which will be assembled in Lexington on Sept. 29, and 30, for the purpose of forming a state association to carry on the anti-tuberculosis movement through all parts of the State. Those delegates will be appointed this week and their names sent to the joint committee from the other associations.

There are only six anti-tuberculosis associations in the entire State and each of these has been impelled to confine all its efforts to its own city and county. The organization formerly known as the Kentucky Anti-Tuberculosis Association having changed its name to the Louisville Anti-Tuberculosis Association, the need of a state organization has become very great, and through no other means can the campaign be carried out as it should be.

It is estimated by these prominent in this movement, that there are more than 20,000 consumptives in Kentucky at the present time and there are less than 100 beds in all the State for the treatment of the disease. In addition to the institutions needed for the treatment of sufferers, a great deal of educational work must be done through the teaching of precautionary measures to be taken by those exposed in order to prevent others from being stricken. Several hundreds delegates will be in attendance at the Lexington conference and a number of addresses by eminent specialists from other states will be delivered. A local association will doubtless be formed here within the next few months.

Korreck Shape.

Heavy Property Loss.

Fuller reports from the storm swept territory on the gulf coast show that the damage done by the hurricane was greater than was thought at first. It is now believed that the number of lives lost was over fifty. The railroads are badly handicapped in their efforts to restore schedules and it will be several weeks before trains are running as usual. The property loss will run into the millions.

Kentucky M. E. Conference In Session.

The second days proceedings of the Kentucky Conference of the Methodist Episcopal church South, was largely attended, many new ministers and lay delegates arriving since Wednesday. Bishop Hoss called the conference to order promptly at 9 o'clock a. m., and after the invocation delivered an address on "Christian Ethics."

Preceding the Bishop's address devotional exercises were held, led by Rev. John R. Peebles, of Winchester. Secretary Clarke read the minutes of Wednesday's meeting which were approved. Bishop Hoss then took up the reports of preachers from the Lexington and Danville Districts, the passing of characters and reading of reports consuming the morning hour.

At the afternoon session addresses were delivered by Dr. H. M. DuBose, of Nashville, Tenn., on Epworth League work, and by Rev. Mr. Buckingham, of the Christian church in the interest of the anti-saloon league.

Prof. C. B. Duncan, of the correspondent school of Vanderbilt University, delivered an interesting address before the conference on the work of his department and its relation and aid of ministers.

Prof. Duncan was followed by Dr. John R. Nelson, of Nashville, on Home Missionary work. Dr. Nelson explained at length the importance of activity all along the line in missionary work and the importance of concentrated effort.

At 3 o'clock p. m. a mass meeting of ministers and Epworth Leaguers was held for the purpose of forming the Kentucky Conference of the Epworth League. Mr. H. G. Price, of Nashville, Tenn., a distinguished layman in the work of the Epworth League, addressed the meeting. At the conclusion of the mass meeting the conference resolved itself into a study of the Bible, which was led by Dr. Gross Alexander, of Nashville, Tenn.

The various committees of the conference have got down to work and reports from their labor will probably be read to the conference Friday.

CONFERENCE NOTES.

Rev. Dr. E. G. Mann, of Lexington, Rev. J. L. Clarke, presiding Elder of the Covington district, Rev. J. P. Strother, of Danville, and Rev. L. Robinson former pastors of the Paris church, are attending the conference. Dr. Mann is guest of his niece, Mrs. Frank Bryan, while Rev. Strother, who is accompanied by Mrs. Strother, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Clarke.

Rev. Alec Redd, of Renaker, former pastor of the Paris church 1886-9, and later Presiding Elder of the Lexington district is attending the conference and is with Mr. and Mrs. Alec Baird.

Rev. William Britt, of Bloomfield, Ky., who was pastor of the Millersburg church 1894-8, is attending the conference.

Rev. R. B. Baird, pastor of the Methodist church at Mackville, Washington county, is the largest preacher in attendance. Rev. Mr. Baird stands 6 feet 2 inches tall and in avoirdupois weighs the beam at 328 pounds.

Rev. J. E. Moss, who succeeded the Rev. Mr. Baird at Woodlawn, happens to be the smallest minister attending the conference, weighing only 115 pounds.

Dr. John R. Deering, one of the presiding elders of the conference, is the oldest preacher in service, having been admitted to conference in 1863.

Two of the most attractive and pleasing young ministers attending the conference are two brothers, Rev. S. H. Arnold, of Wilmore, and Rev. E. K. Arnold, of Moorefield. They are nephews of Presiding Elder W. E. Arnold, of the Maysville district.

Pastor W. R. Johnson, of the Owen-ton congregation, is accompanied by his son, Mr. Andrew Johnson, who is possessed of a fine voice and leads the song service. Young Mr. Johnson is studying for the ministry.

The preachers in attendance number more than one hundred and are as fine a body of men as one would wish to see.

Bishop Moss delivered the invocation upon the convening of conference. He asked for the richest blessing of Heaven upon the President of the United States, the Governor of Kentucky, and all in authority everywhere.

Mr. W. R. Peters, of Bath county is attending the conference. Mr. Peters was a Confederate soldier, belonging to Company F, Ninth Kentucky Cavalry, commanded by the late Col. W. C. P. Breckinridge.

Rev. H. C. Wright, who has completed the conference term of four years as pastor at Pleasureville, is in attendance upon the session and will be among those sent to some new charge.

Rev. George Froh, of La Grange, is one of the interesting ministers of the conference. Rev. Mr. Froh has a circuit of four churches. He was a member of the Sixth Kentucky Infantry, U. S. A., and participated in every engagement from Shiloh to Atlanta.

Condemn Prohibition.

At Indianapolis Monday the German Roman Catholic Central Verein adopted without debate a resolution condemning prohibition as a cure for the liquor evil. It was one of a score or more resolutions of a religious and social nature on which the organization took action, and was one of the few which escaped a lively debate over some of the provisions. The resolution against prohibition is in line with former action of the Central Verein, and while denouncing enforced abstinence from liquor, recommends temperance.

Lumber for Sale.

The Judge's Little Joke.

The error of a clerk involved in a decidedly confusing situation the German gentleman referred to in a story in the New York Times.

On a jury day in the First district court a stolid looking German presented to the justice a certificate from the commissioner of jurors. After a rapid glance at the document the justice ordered the man to raise his right hand and administered the oath.

"Your name is Herman Kaufman?"

"Yes, your honor."

"This paper," continued the court, "requests me to excuse Herman Kaufman from jury duty on the ground that he is dead. Now, remember that you have sworn to tell the truth and think well before you answer. Are you dead?"

"No-o, your honor," was the bewildered reply: "I don't think I am."

"You claim that you are alive?"

"Y-e-s, your honor."

"That will do. Now take this paper back to the commissioner of jurors."

The man did so. When the commissioner examined the certificate it bore the following indorsement in the justice's handwriting:

"The deceased, appearing before me in open court, insists under oath that he is not dead. Please investigate and if his testimony be false have him indicted for perjury."

A Wedding Hint.

The tall girl smiled in some embarrassment.

"Haven't you any secondhand shoes?" she said to the shoe clerk.

"But, miss"—he remonstrated.

"No, no; you misunderstand," said she. "I don't mean to wear. I just mean old shoes, too worn for use, that customers have left with you. You see, there's a wedding up at our house tomorrow, and we want something to throw at the bride and bridegroom."

"I see," said the clerk.

He rummaged in a black hole and drew forth an armful of dilapidated footwear. The girl selected some three, two and ones.

"These will do. Thanks ever so much," she said, and so departed.

"Big footed people are always working that on us," said the clerk afterward. "That girl wears eights. She couldn't very well throw such mud-scows at the bride, so she chose some little and dainty shoes here—ones and twos. Oh, yes, it's an old trick with the big footed."—Los Angeles Times.

Saracen's Head Tavern.

The Saracen's Head, Snow Hill, now closed, reached back to a respectable antiquity. In "Dick Tarlton's Jest" it is referred to as "the Saracen's Head without Newgate," and Stow calls it "a fair and large inn for receipt of travelers," which "bath to sign the Saracen's Head." Its pre-eminent interest, however, is naturally Dickensian, and the novelist has given a vivid description of the old inn as it was when Nicholas Nickleby and his uncle interviewed there the master of Dotheboys Hall. There are various accounts of the origin of the sign of the Saracen's Head. One is that it was set up as a compliment to the mother of Thomas a Becket, who was the daughter of a Saracen. In Selden's "Table Talk" we read, "When our countrymen came home from fighting with the Saracens . . . they pictured them with huge, big, terrible faces, as you still see the sign of the Saracen's Head is."—London Chronicle.

From the Kitchen.

Has it ever struck one what a number of terms belonging to cuisine are applied to man under different circumstances? Sometimes he is "basted," he "boils with rage," he is "baked" with heat and "burns" with love or jealousy. He is often "cut up," "devoured" with a flame and "done brown." We "dress" his jacket for him. Sometimes he is "eaten up" with care, and occasionally he is "fried." We "cook" his "goose" for him, and often he makes a "goose" of himself. We make a "hash" of him, and sometimes he makes a hash of something else. He gets into "hot water" and sometimes into a "mess," is made into "mince meat" and is often in a "pickle." We are often asked to "toast" him, and he is frequently put into a "stew" or is in a "stew," no one knows why. A "soft" is "half baked," and one severely handled is well "peppered." A cheeky young imp is a "saucy box," and a rich father is made to "fork" out.—Dundee Advertiser.

He Knew His Business.

Kind Hearted Maiden (fishing for a stray penny in her purse)—I suppose you poor blind people feel your misfortunes keenly?

Blind Mendicant—Yes, indeed. The Lord only knows how I miss the pleasure of being able to look into the beautiful faces of the handsome and lovely ladies who are kind enough to donate—

Kind Hearted Maiden (fishing out a shilling)—Here, poor fellow, take this. I'm sure you are deserving.—London Scraps.

Perhaps.

"Now, look here, Algernon," said a parent to his son sternly, "when I was your age I was at the head of my class."

"Ah," responded the lad, "perhaps teachers were easier to fool then than they are now!"

Severe.

"I wish I had a fortune, I'd never paint another picture!" declared an artist to a brother of the brush.

"Well, there are lots of people who would give you one on that condition!"

The Similarity.

Why are some policemen like rain-bows? Because they appear after the storm is over.

Suit for Divorce.

J. C. B. Gillespie, a prominent farmer, of the eastern portion of the county, through his attorneys, Talbott & Whitley, led suit in the Bourbon Circuit Court for divorce from his wife, Bettie Alexander Gillespie.

The petition recites that they were married in Nicholas county June 25, 1908, and that the defendant abandoned the plaintiff September of the same year, has left the State and is now residing at or near Davenport, Oklahoma.

An Invitation.

All the progressive housewives of Paris and Bourbon are invited to call at my store and see the demonstrator on October the first, who will remain one week to demonstrate the manifold advantages of the Malleable Steel Range, the world's greatest range. Come and see.

Anti-Tuberculosis Conference.

Two delegates have been apportioned to this city as its representation at the Anti-Tuberculosis Conference, which will be assembled in Lexington on Sept. 29, and 30, for the purpose of forming a state association to carry on the anti-tuberculosis movement through all parts of the State. Those delegates will be appointed this week and their names sent to the joint committee from the other associations.

There are only six anti-tuberculosis associations in the entire State and each of these has been impelled to confine all its efforts to its own city and county. The organization formerly known as the Kentucky Anti-Tuberculosis Association having changed its name to the Louisville Anti-Tuberculosis Association, the need of a state organization has become very great, and though no other means can the campaign be carried out as it should be.

It is estimated by those prominent in this movement, that there are more than 20,000 consumptives in Kentucky at the present time and there are less than 100 beds in all the State for the treatment of the disease. In addition to the institutions needed for the treatment of sufferers, a great deal of educational work must be done through the teaching of precautionary measures to be taken by those exposed in order to prevent others from being stricken.

Several hundreds delegates will be in attendance at the Lexington conference and a number of addresses by eminent specialists from other states will be delivered. A local association will doubtless be formed here within the next few months.

Korrekct Shape.

Heavy Property Loss.

Fuller reports from the storm swept territory on the gulf coast show that the damage done by the hurricane was greater than was thought at first. It is now believed that the number of lives lost was over fifty. The railroads are badly handicapped in their efforts to restore schedules and it will be several weeks before trains are running as usual. The property loss will run into the millions.

Closed Saturday.

Justice Harlan in Good Health.

Instead of being ill and ready to retire to private life, on full pay, as was announced by the Washington and New York newspapers, Justice John M. Harlan, of the Supreme Court, is enjoying better health than he has for years. In a letter from Justice Harlan to Gov. Willson, received Friday, the Justice contradicts flatly the reports regarding his ill-health. He says that the reports are without foundation in fact, and that he is better than he has been for a long time, without the slightest trace of ill-health during the summer.

Justice Harlan is in Pointe Au Pic, Murray Bay, Canada, and has been spending the summer there. He said in his letter to the Governor that he had first heard the reports of his illness when he was told by the telegraph operator at the small town in which he is staying, that numerous telegrams had been received from newspapers in the country and Canada asking about the health of the Justice. Some days ago the Eastern papers had stories which were also printed in the Southern papers of Justice Harlan's serious illness and the prediction was made that he would soon retire. Gov. Willson is a close personal friend of Justice Harlan.

American Aviator Returns.

Glenn H. Curtiss, the American aviator, winner of flying contests at Rheims and Brescia, arrived at New York aboard the Kaiser Wilhelm II. Representatives of the Hudson-Fulton celebration aeronautical committee, the Aero Club of America and the Aero Club of Italy, went down the bay to greet Mr. Curtiss.

Gov. Johnson Dead.

Gov. John A. Johnson, three times elected Governor of Minnesota, a candidate for the Democratic nomination for President of the United States in 1908, and looked upon by many throughout the country as the probable Democratic national standard bearer in 1912, died at St. Mary's Hospital at Rochester, Minn., at 3:25 o'clock Tuesday morning, following an operation last Wednesday.

To Keep Money at Home.

In an effort to keep the money of the Southerners at home the business men of the South are starting a movement to wake up the Southern people to what they are doing. Gov. Willson Saturday received a letter from John W. Gullledge, of Wadesboro, N. C., asking for information as to the amount of premiums on insurance policies of all kinds that goes from Kentucky to companies outside the State. The information will be used in object lessons to the people of the South, showing that they need their money away from home.

Great Ovation to Dr. Cook.

The ovation tendered to Dr. Cook by the citizens of his home city at his arrival there Tuesday was wild, happy and joyous. His wife and children were the first to greet him in the early morning when Dr. Cook was transferred at quarantine to a tug containing his family. The meeting between them was tender and affectionate. Dr. Cook was transferred to the steamer Grand Republic, on which a large number of his close friends were gathered. When he was landed in Brooklyn the crowds were so large that the militia and police were barely able to keep down a riot, so eager were they to embrace the explorer. Dr. Cook was tendered a public reception at the Bushwick Club and was lionized by his home people throughout the day.

Burley Feast a Grand Success.

The big barbecue at Winchester Tuesday given under the auspices of the Winchester Commercial Club in aid of the efforts of the Burley Tobacco Society, was a complete success. Eight fat heaves and twenty sheep were served together with hundreds of gallons of the burgoo for which Kentucky is famous. By noon 3,500 persons were on hand. Before noon Hon. Claude Thomas, of Paris, made an argument for the pooling of tobacco. In the afternoon Judge Ed. O'Rear, of Mt. Sterling; the Hon. Pres Kimball, of Lexington; the Hon. A. J. Hughes, of West Virginia; Miss Alice Lloyd, and Clarence Lebus, of the Burley Society made addresses. About 500 acres were pooled. Those in charge think that fully 75 per cent of the acreage will be pooled by Saturday night.

Wise Advice.

Be not arrogant when fortune smiles nor dejected when she frowns.—Antonius.

Bold Attempt of Cracksmen.

A bold attempt to blow up the safe in the Southern depot at Lexington, at an early hour Tuesday morning was frustrated by Partolmen Robertson and Collins, who reached the scene of the robbery just in time to arrest Arthur Long of Lexington, and James Gleason, giving Louisville as his place of residence. Both men attempted to escape after they had ransacked the safe which had been blown open with nitro-glycerine. Upon being pursued by the officers Long surrendered. Gleason was later taken into custody. The safe contained no money and all the cracksmen secured was 45 in postage stamps. Certain papers found in Gleason's possession lead the officers to believe that he with other parties are implicated in another crime which had been committed in the vicinity of Lexington some time during the month of August.

The Baby Turtle.
Turtles lay their eggs in the sand and let the sun hatch them out. They do not lay them all in one place probably because they think it safer to scatter them. Then, even though one be stolen or broken, the others may escape. The mother turtle covers them all carefully up, one after another, with a thin sprinkling of sand and then apparently never gives them another thought, considering her maternal duty done. Certain it is that she has never been discovered going near these egg bables again, and when they hatch at last the tiny soft backed creatures at once begin crawling around in search of flies and other food as independently as if there were no such thing as a mother in the world. A little girl who found one of these odd oblong turtle eggs on a sandy river bank in Louisiana took it home and put it in a teacup on the table for safe keeping. A few hours later a slight noise was noticed in that direction, and on looking in the cup again she found a baby turtle, full fledged, but tiny, scrambling about among the bits of its broken eggshell cradle.

Ravens and the Hapsburgs.
Henri de Weidell tells the story of the late Empress Elizabeth and the ravens which Maurus Jokel gave in an article at the time of her majesty's tragic death. Early in her life Elizabeth wrote some verses in Hungarian on the subject of the raven, the bird of ill omen, which plays a great part in the history of the Hapsburgs. According to the Imperial poetess, a flight of ravens was hovering over Ol-mutz when Francis Joseph received from his uncle's hands the crown which was destined to inflict upon him such miseries. A raven followed Maximilian and Charlotte on their last walk before their departure for Mexico, and when Maria Christina was starting to receive the crown of Spain, which was one day to be so grievous a burden, a raven flew over the horses' heads and accompanied the carriage to the railway station. These incidents were the subject of the poem.—Westminster Gazette.

Room For Improvement.
A certain estimable old gentleman is at all times worth listening to, though occasionally his grammar is scarcely perfect. He was dining on one occasion with the local squire, when, much to the disgust of his worthy host, a trifling error on the old gentleman's part was pounced upon and loudly repeated by the son and heir of the house. There was a painful silence, broken at length by the host.
"My son," he remarked quietly to the young fellow, "there are times, I admit, when our old friend's speech is a little peculiar. At such times you might be of mutual assistance to each other."
"In what way, sir?" asked the son.
"Well," was the severe rejoinder,
"you might give Mr. X. a lesson or two in grammar, in return for which I have no doubt he would assist you to patch up the holes in your manners."—London Tit-Bits.

Three Reasons For Declining.
Lord Broughton had a temper which sometimes exploded in a most disconcerting manner. It is related that on one occasion he dined with a large party at Thackeray's house, and after dinner some specially fine Madeira was produced. In his usual genial way the novelist pressed this on his guests and, patting his neighbor, Lord Broughton, on the back, remarked,
"Now, my dear old boy, you must try some of this."

A chill fell on the company when the noble lord retorted, "I am not your dear boy, I am not old, and — your wine."

The Only Thing Left.
Jeremiah Jinks is rich and stingy.
An acquaintance of his met Jinks' son the other day. "Your father seems to have lost a good deal of money lately.
The last time I saw him he was complaining and saying he must economize."

"Economize! Did he say where he was going to begin?"
"Yes; on his table, he said."
"Then he must be going to take away the tablecloth," was the filial declaration.—Exchange.

A Big Birdcage.
A very peculiar institution in the New York zoo is what is known as "the flying birdcage." This magnificent aviary is the largest of its kind in the world, being 55 feet high, 72 feet wide and 150 feet long. Large oak and other trees grow in this cage, and the birds live within its wire netting bounds in the utmost freedom.
The frame of the cage is built of iron pipes, which are covered over with thin meshed netting.

Literary Note.
"You write too much," said the critic
to the author.
"But, my friend," replied the author,
"I've got to live."
"How about your readers?"
"Ah, well, we were all born to die!"
—Atlanta Constitution.

Parried.
"And that young man kissed you on the lips! Why didn't you offer him your hand?" said the father.
"Oh, I didn't have to, papa," said the girl. "He's going to ask you for that."—Yonkers Statesman.

THE STANDARD OF THE WORLD

STOCK, CROP AND FARM NOTES.

—Jessamine county growers met in Nicholasville Monday and after the mass meeting which filled the court room, six solicitors reported over three hundred acres signed during the day, and there are seven more to report.

—Eighty per cent of the cattle produced in Bourbon has been marketed, the remainder being bunches of excellent individuals, and in prime condition for fancy prices. Butcher stuff is commanding good prices and finding ready sale.

—The scarcity of eggs on the local market has forced the price to 22 cents a dozen. Good butter is also in demand and the creamery products being imported to meet the requirements of the market.

—The Bourbon corn crop is rapidly curing and will be ready for the knife in two weeks. Early planted fields will show a splendid yield and fodder will be excellent.

—Hamburg Belle has arrived in Lexington and it now seems probable that the third and decisive race between the trotting queen and Uhlman, her only rival, will be held there during the meeting of the Kentucky Trotting Horse Breeders' Association, which begins on Tuesday, October 5.

—The agricultural outlook in Bourbon is one of much encouragement, due to excellent weather conditions and high prices prevailing for almost every product of the farm. Farmers are jubilant as a result of the profitable season, the loss sustained to the wheat crop being the only disappointment of the year.

—Cattle, hogs and sheep have commanded high prices; dairy and poultry products have brought big returns, while corn, hay and tobacco are splendid crops with every indication of remunerative prices prevailing.

—The twenty-five head of Welsh ponies imported to Elemendorf, the great farm of James B. Haggin, arrived Monday morning in good condition and were taken to the stables at once.
The Welsh pony is considered a much more active and useful animal than the well-known Shetland breed, and will be quite a novelty in this country, as few have been imported. The El-emendorf herd will be used for breeding purposes.

—The loss reported by farmers in Fleming county on sheep killed by dogs will be far in excess of the receipts from dog tax. They will not receive over forty cents on the dollar this year.

—Another suit was filed in the United States Circuit Court in Covington
Monday against the Burley Tobacco Society and several men who are alleged to have been members of the society. The plaintiffs in the suit are Frischmuth, Brother & Co., of Philadelphia, Pa. The demand is for $163,049 as the amount of overcharges for tobacco.

—England reports that her potato crop this year is the biggest on record.

—Mr. G. T. Leach has sold his farm of about sixty-five acres near Centerville, to Mr. W. N. Dunn, of Georgetown, for $9,100 for $140 per acre.
Mr. Dunn will move to the place in March 1910.

—Fleming county growers have already pooled 3,650 acres of their 4,500 acre tobacco crop, and the poolers are making rapid progress in getting the remainder.

—Authentic reports from Robertson say that fully ninety per cent of the tobacco crop will be pooled by the Burley Society.

—Over eleven hundred acres of the Woodford county tobacco crop was signed up in the Burley pool the last week, and an active and successful cannass is now being prosecuted.

—The Carlisle Commercial Club will hold a tobacco fair on the 22nd day of February since Maysville has abandoned the idea. Already arrangements are being made to provide attractive premises and arrange a program that will bring a large delegation to the city from Central Kentucky.

—Miss Elizabeth Rice, of Carlisle, purchased last week of Henry Caywood, of North Middletown, his handsome prize-winning Shetland pony.
The pony had taken a number of premiums at Kentucky fairs.

—In reporting the Georgetown court the Times says: "Monday was an ideal day so far as the weather was concerned and there was an unusually large crowd in town. Mr. Ben B.
Peak, auctioneer, reports about 200 cattle on the market. The best yearlings sold at $4.65 per cwt. Big lot of male colts on the market and selling at $65 to $115 per head, according to quality. He sold 90 head of sheep for Mat Taylor at $8.50 to $7.50 per head."

—Through the consignment by Major David Castleman of thirty high class saddle horses now located at the Clifton farm, in Mercer county, to the fall sale of the Kentucky Sales Company,
it became known that the Los Nunez Company, formed about a year ago by a syndicate of Lexington and Louisville business men for the purpose of establishing a breeding plant in Cuba, has decided to abandon its object. The horses which were to have composed the nucleus of the Los Nunez stud will be sold in Lexington on October 9.

THEATRICAL.

—The big show where you will meet them all will be at the Paris Grand tonight, Friday, Sept. 24. The modern stage is more or less the key to the garden of Eden. Those who are fond of the loveliness of fair maidens will find their longings satisfied by attending the performance of the Boston Belles Co. The management of this organization announces that the attraction is not only noteworthy for its bevy of beautiful women, but that the entire offering is just a little better than those who generally use a vocabulary of poetic and fantastic words to exploit the grandeur of their so-called production in most glittering phrases.

There will be something doing at the Paris Grand next Wednesday, Sept. 29, when "The College Boy" comes to town. Up-to-the-minute comedy and real fun are promised, and judging from the list of principals in this famous comedy success, the laughing atmosphere looks exceedingly bright. Songs that are catchy, music that is tuneful and specialties that are pleasing are claimed, and no doubt the song hits will be hummed and whistled about the town soon.

Richmond Displeased.

President George I. Hammond of the Blue Grass League is in receipt of a letter from President Kellogg and the directors of the Richmond team which says that they will not protest the result of the pennant race in this league. The letter says the action of W. R. "Sunny" Thomas in giving the members of the Lexington team $200 for winning the game from Richmond and the Paris team $100, as well as offering Shelbyville a like sum will be taken before the National Commission. The letter is a lengthy one and says that the Richmond people while greatly pleased at the showing of their team and the financial results of the season, deplore the action of Mr. Thomas. It is signed by Mr. Kellogg and four directors of the team.

LITTLE ROCK ITEMS.

—Tuesday night at Workman's Hall, Hon. Joel T. Fort, of Tennessee, addressed about forty-five farmers and tobacco growers in the interest of the Burley pool. Mr. Fort was followed by Mr. John A. Larue, of Paris, President of the Bourbon county Board of Control, who told of the progress made throughout the Burley district and the importance of the Bourbon growers lending a helping hand. At the conclusion of Mr. Larue's address he extended an invitation to the farmers present to come and sign up their crops, but none came.

Gentle Sarcasm.

A good old west country preacher, who had decided to leave an unremunerative charge, finding it impossible to collect his salary, said in his farewell sermon: "I have little more to add, dear brethren, save this: You were all in favor of free salvation, and the manner in which you have treated me proves that you have got it!"

How a War Set a Fashion.

The calabash pipe is one of the after results of the South African war. To supply the demand to which popular taste has given rise quite an industry has grown up in South Africa, where the farmers are regularly planting calabash specially for pipes, while planting is already being carried out in the south of France and even in Australia.

Gold Hoarded in India.

It was estimated by the London Statist in November, 1892, that in the 33 years ending with March of that year, the amount of gold which had gone to India and been retained, or in other words, hoarded, was no less than £356, 324,000. This was at the rate of £10,750,000 per annum. A 50-year period is now completed and there is no reason to suppose that the Indian hoarding has become less. There are, in fact, some reasons which may be adduced for supposing that the amount of gold secreted has tended to increase.—Wall Street Journal.

Want to Be Original.

Normal college, in New York, is the first woman's college to put upon the stage some play little known, "Dr. Faustus of Mariow," being the one chosen. As a general thing, the college play is either a burlesque or a bad performance of a play that professionals would do well. The dramatic club thinks that having no one to imitate better work will be done.
